Accountability; It's Everybody's Responsibility

Accountability; the obligation of an individual or organization to account for its activities, accept responsibility for them, and to disclose the results in a transparent manner. It is the expectation we have for ourselves and others, but how often do we meet it? Do we find solutions when things don't go as we had planned or do we play the blame game? Together we will discuss how we move beyond understanding the need for accountability, to engaging your team in ways that can win their hearts, minds and commitment. You will learn how to create a philosophy of accountability that everyone can embrace and practice. A philosophy that removes fear; increases skills, confidence and reliability.
